1. Applicants' election without traverse of Group I in the reply filed on 01/13/06 is acknowledged. However, after further analysis of the claims, it is found that Group I is tailored to different subject matters whose particulars are mutually exclusive to each other. The examiner apologizes for any inconvenience this update restriction requirement has created.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
- I. Claims 1-8, drawn to a ball lens disposed at a defined distance from an organic electroluminescent array, classified in class 347, subclass 244.
  - II. Claims 9-17, drawn to a fixing layer for fixing the ball lens to organic electroluminescent array, classified in class 347, subclass 241.
  - III. Claims 18-26, drawn to a process for fabricating an array-form exposure head, classified in class 438, subclass 27.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

3. Inventions I, II and III are related as product made and process of making. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, it is found that (1) the process of making an array-form exposure head as claimed in Group III, including claims 18-26, can be used to make an optical pickup device, an optical communication device such as an optical transceiver device, or any other types of product by aligning and bonding a ball lens in alignment with the light emitting element, and (2) the product, i.e., an organic electroluminescent array exposure head, can be made and packaged with an optical lens by other different types of process such as solder bonding, micromachining, forming receiving grooves or partition walls (Group I), or filling the space between lenses with a fixing layer (Group II).

4. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as the ball lens can be implemented as a coupling lens to the organic electroluminescent light source array without any intervening fixing layer as recited in invention II, e.g., the ball lens being fixed by partition walls that delimited individual unit of the light source array or being received by appropriate groove in an alignment disposition with respect to organic electroluminescent emitting unit. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for either Group II or Group III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

9. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

10. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Hai C. Pham whose telephone number is (571) 272-2260. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 8:30AM - 5:30PM.
